„As an Architect (and like every Architect) I like to Travel, and especially to Towns or Places you don't find in Tourist Guides. I love it to take Pictures from sensational Buildings, but I become really enthusiastic over Looking from different Angles or Positions and to create Connections or Combinations in an urban Sense. Or to catch the special Ambience of the Light. And of course sitting in an Corner, drinking Coffee and watch the People in the Streets.“

Groningen, Wall House
Architect: John Heijduk, designed 1970's, built 2001 (posthum)
